Making Business Leaders Community Leaders Since 1905

Program: August 24 - Senator Bill Brady, Republican Candidate for Governor

If things had worked out differently, Bill Brady might have had “attorney-at-law” after his name. But in 1983, shortly after he graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University, the family business was struggling through the recession. So Bill put his law school plans on hold and stayed in his hometown of Bloomington. After college, with the recession hitting the area hard, Bill and his brothers joined their father to rebuild the family company into one of Central Illinois’ largest home construction firms – and one of the biggest family-owned home providers in the state.

Anticipating the economic downturn, the Brady family began retooling their company in 2006. At its peak, Brady Homes employed 34 employees. But facing the new economic reality, the company and staff had to be downsized through tough and painful, but necessary, decisions.

Bill has spent his life providing for his family – and those who depend on his family business.

In addition, he has served as a State Representative and State Senator, sponsoring and supporting plans to limit campaign contributions, allow voters to recall public officials, and to bar state contractors from donating to campaigns. He has also been one of the earliest voices in the effort to clean up the corruption at the former Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board.

Bill and his wife Nancy are proud of their three children: Katie, a pediatric heart nurse at Children’s Memorial Hospital in Chicago; Will, a law student at DePaul University; and Duncan, a junior in high school.

This is a perfect opportunity to invite a prospective member and enjoy the fellowship of other Members, as well as mix and mingle with professionals from the United Neighborhood Organization, who initiated this evening. UNO is a group of community leaders that came together in 1984 to build grass-roots leadership within Chicago's Hispanic neighborhoods. Mark Flores, President, has invited Rotary/One members to meet and mingle with members of the UNO and other professional groups.
